Looking for the skills that will bring you long-term success in your career?

Then this professional development opportunity—going virtual for the first time—is exactly what you've been looking for.

The Young Professionals Institute will take you through several hands-on, business simulation exercises to teach you the skills you need to excel in your workplace and reach your professional goals. These skills—team work, communication, decision-making, problem-solving and adaptability—are among the top skills employers today are looking for in prospective employees as well as candidates for advancement.

You will:

- ✓ Hone leadership skills needed in the modern workplace
- ✓ Learn to be proactive and resilient in today's constantly changing business environment
- ✓ Explore emerging workforce trends
- ✓ Build professional relationships through several networking opportunities
